Meddy Privacy Policy

Meddy Health LLC

Effective date: October 17, 2026

Who we are and what this policy covers

This policy explains how Meddy Health LLC ("Meddy," "we," "us"), a New York limited liability company, collects, uses, and shares information through the website getmeddyhealth.com and the Meddy mobile app. Meddy owns and operates the Meddy brand, website, app, and technology, and provides administrative services, such as scheduling and patient communications, to Sameer Aggarwal Medical PLLC ("the Medical Practice").

Meddy does not practice medicine or provide medical care. All medical services are provided by the Medical Practice and its licensed clinicians. Meddy Health LLC and the Medical Practice are both owned by Dr. Sameer Aggarwal.

This policy covers information that is not part of your medical care, such as website visits, account and contact details, consultation requests before you become a patient, and how we use cookies and send communications.

Your medical information is covered by a different notice. Once you become a patient, your health information in the Meddy app, including your records, appointments, messages, and data you log or share from devices, is protected health information of the Medical Practice. Meddy handles it only on the Medical Practice's behalf, as its business associate under HIPAA, to provide technology and administrative services such as scheduling, appointment reminders, and routing your messages to the Medical Practice's clinicians. How that information is used and shared, and your rights over it, are described in the Medical Practice's Notice of Privacy Practices. If this policy and that notice differ about your medical information, the notice controls.

How we use information

We use information only to:

- Create and manage your account, and let you use the website and app
- Respond to consultation requests and schedule your free consultation with the Medical Practice, on the Medical Practice's behalf
- Send transactional messages, such as account notices, appointment confirmations and reminders, and security alerts
- Answer calls and texts, including through an automated assistant that uses artificial intelligence. It tells you at the start of each call that it is automated and that the call is recorded and transcribed.

- Provide support and respond to your requests, and route any health questions to the Medical Practice's clinicians. Meddy staff and our automated assistant do not give medical advice.
- Keep the site and app secure, prevent fraud, and fix problems
- Understand how the site and app are used so we can improve them, using Contentsquare analytics on our public website pages
- Comply with the law and enforce our terms

We will not use your information for a new purpose without telling you first and, where required, getting your consent.

How we share information

We do not sell your personal information, and we do not use or share health information for advertising. We do not place third-party advertising pixels, analytics, or session recording tools in the patient app or portal, or on pages where you request a consultation, book an appointment, or enter health information.

We share information only with:

Recipient	Why
Sameer Aggarwal Medical PLLC	To schedule consultations and provide the medical services you request
Service providers that work for us, such as Amazon Web Services (hosting and email delivery), Google Workspace (email), Sinch (phone calls and text messages), OpenAI (artificial intelligence processing, including our automated assistant), Stedi (insurance claims processing), and Contentsquare (website analytics)	To run the site and app and send communications, under contracts that limit their use of the data to providing services to us. Providers that handle health information sign Business Associate Agreements, and may not use your health information to train artificial intelligence models.

A successor company	If Meddy is involved in a merger or sale, subject to this policy and the Medical Practice's protections for health information

Cookies, analytics, and tracking

We use essential cookies to keep you signed in, remember your settings, and protect the site and app. We also use Contentsquare to understand how visitors use our public website pages, including which pages they view, where they click and scroll, and recordings of how they move through a page. Contentsquare runs only on public pages. It does not run in the patient app or portal, or on pages where you request a consultation, book an appointment, or enter health information, and it is configured to mask anything you type. IP addresses are truncated where the tool allows.

You can block or delete cookies in your browser settings, though some features may not work without essential cookies. We honor Global Privacy Control signals by turning off any non-essential cookies for that browser.

Communications and your choices

Meddy sends transactional messages, including account, security, scheduling, and appointment notices, for itself and on behalf of the Medical Practice. These are part of the service. Reminders by text or email contain no clinical details.

- Text messages: reply STOP to opt out at any time. Message and data rates may apply. Consent to texts is not required to use the service or receive care. Calls and texts are handled through our phone provider, Sinch. Calls to our phone line may be answered by an automated assistant and are recorded and transcribed. Texts and email are not encrypted, so they never include clinical details.
- Marketing emails are sent only with your consent. Use the unsubscribe link in any marketing email to opt out. We never use your medical information for marketing without your written authorization.
- Push notifications can be turned off in your device settings.
